

Nacionalno
Vijeće za
Konkurentnost

National Competitiveness
Council

Zagreb, 8th February 2006

SUPPORT TO THE WEBSITE QUANTUM21

National Competitiveness Council discussed the proposed initiative for creating the website Quantum21, on their session held on 16th January 2006, and it was rated favorably as a worthwhile project. This initiative is in accordance with the Council's document "55 recommendations to increase Croatia's competitiveness", particularly in the field of leadership and positive attitude development.

Quantum 21 is the website dedicated to transfer of leadership knowledge. The founders of the website have established partnerships with the leading international knowledge resources: EMERALD, JOHN WILEY & SONS, SOCIETY FOR ORGANIZATIONAL LEARNING, PEGASUS COMMUNICATIONS, WORLD BUSINESS ACADEMY. These well-known agencies and institutions from around the world have recognized this exceptional idea and gave their support to Quantum21 by granting the copyrights of their work. On the web address www.quantum21.net texts written by the most prominent world authors in the field of leadership will be published translated in Croatian, to name just the few: Peter Senge, Margaret Wheatley, Peter Drucker, Max de Pree, Charles Handy. Each text will be followed by commentaries given by prominent Croatian theoreticians and practitioners. In that way it offers contextualization of knowledge, linking key ideas and messages from the texts with real challenges from local companies.

National Competitiveness Council supports the work, ideas and goals of Quantum21 site.

Yours sincerely,

Darko Marinac
President

Mira Lenardić
General Secretary